English students on “Great Expectations” a Novel written by Charles Dickens in order to give extra information on various issues, raised in the Novel.

The first stage introduces all the major characters and sets the plot in motion. The second stage of Pip’s expectations involves a change of setting. In this section, Pip’s development into a “Gentleman” is explored. The third stage of Pip’s expectations explores the complete collapse of Pip’s great expectations, making him realize how false these expectations are. Important Themes Social Injustice, Child Abuse, Self-Deception, Fear and Guilt, Relationships, Snobbery and vanity, False Expectations, Social Injustice, Child Abuse, self-Deception, Fear and Guilt, Relationships were discussed.

Assistant Prof. Sunil Kumar M P gave a short introduction to the movie of Charles Dickenson “Great Expectations”, and his various Novels. Great Expectation is a wonderful novel, superbly constructed. When he wrote it Dickens avoided sentimentality, wrote indeed with a tautness of expression which, allied to his known gifts of a storyteller, gave the world a novel acclaimed by many as his finest book. The students got a firsthand experience of the locale, the setting of the village, brother, sister relationship, Love between Estella and Pip, the mysterious benefactor was also known to the students through the film.

The Department of English, SAC College Nagamangala, conducted a Power Point Presentation, Date: 10-1-2019 Thursday, 2.00 to 3.00, a PPT was presented for III Sem OPT English student on “Surfacing” a Novel written by Margaret Atwood, in order to give extra information on various issues raised in the Novel: the Plot, Setting and Time, it was presented in the Seminar Hall and an introduction to Margaret Atwood Novels was also done.

Margaret Atwood: Concerned with Canada’s cultural identity & Women’s lives and identities.

Survival (1972) & Victim mentality

Themes of Duality: Self & Other, Men & Women, Victim & Victimizer, City and Nature 42 books; more than 10 novels. Postmodern, self-reflexive mode, mixing poetry and fiction, mixing a lot of genres (Gothic, detective story, fairy tales, family romance, comedy, allegory, etc.)

Plot: The narrator, together with Anna, David and Joe, goes back to the village in the mountains in Northern Quebec and then to the island where she lived as a child—in order to look for her missing father. She also has to confront her past and the relations she’s involved in.

The setting: a border country between the English and the French, between wild nature and human civilization. Time: early 1970’s, when young people are rebellious and aware of radical feminism, which, however, does not change all at once the structure of patriarchal society. The title: The protagonist dives into her past and then surfaces.

Part I: arrival—fish and canoeing → swimming //remembers her past and her brother’s drowning experience (which she remembers as an ‘unborn baby’ end of chap 3)

Part II: (remembered after the six days of events, conflicts and diving) – ends with the finding of her father’s corpse. Part III: leaves the other friends and stays behind.
