In this section, Pip’s development into a “gentleman” is explored. The third stage of Pip’s expectations explores the complete collapse of Pip’s great expectations, making him realize how false these expectations are. Important Themes Social Injustice, Child Abuse, Self-Deception, Fear and Guilt, Relationships, Snobbery and vanity, False Expectations, Social Injustice, Child Abuse, self-Deception, Fear and Guilt, Relationships were discussed.

Assistant Prof. Sunil Kumar M P gave a short introduction to the movie of Charles Dickenson “Great Expectations”, and his various Novels. Great Expectation is a wonderful novel, superbly constructed. When he wrote it Dickens avoided sentimentality, wrote indeed with a tautness of expression which, allied to his known gifts of a storyteller, gave the world a novel acclaimed by many as his finest book. The students got a firsthand experience of the locale, the setting of the village, brother, sister relationship, Love between Estella and Pip, the mysterious benefactor was also known to the students through the film.
